A LETTER FROM OUR FOUNDER...

"Hitting our milestones" best describes the past year of Dark Bali's history. Early in the 2018, we received our 501(c)(3) status in the United States and the equivalent in Indonesia, launching us into a new season of expansion. Our relationships across Indonesia generated introductions to new networks, and we added seven new organizations to the coalition. We continued serving our coalition and other organizations through targeted training programs, participated in research and data collection, and continued bridging the gap between local grassroots organizations in Indonesia and global resources.

Our work has been a delightful adventure as we continue to ask the anti-trafficking community "what do you need to move forward?" and spring into action to find ways to answer these stated needs. We are thrilled by the ever-growing movement of abolitionists throughout Indonesia, and we are truly honored to be a part of it. Activists are rising up, caregivers are being empowered, and awareness is growing at every level of Indonesian society about this social crisis. I cannot wait to see what the next year holds.

For Freedom,

Dalaina May
Founder and Executive Director

CONNECTIONS

We recognize the power of collaboration. Therefore, we believe that human trafficking in Indonesia will only be eliminated when local abolitionists are effectively working together and have a voice in the global anti-trafficking movement.

Our role is to strengthen this network and amplify the voices of Indonesian caregivers, policy makers, activists, and survivors. We do this through identifying and networking existing anti-trafficking organizations across the country, facilitating regular roundtable meetings, coordinating projects between organizations and government entities, and connecting Indonesian organizations to international networks and resources.

CONTRIBUTIONS

According to the US State Department's Trafficking in Persons 2018 Report, each of Indonesia's 34 provinces is a source and destination for human trafficking. Yet, there exists little current data available to those researching or developing strategies targeted toward combating trafficking in the country.

Dark Bali serves the grassroots Indonesian community by participating in data collection and research projects and serving as a bridge between our local partners and English speakers.

In partnership with Liberty Shared, Dark Bali participates in the Media Monitoring Programme. The goal of this program is to disrupt the flow of illicit funds gained through human trafficking by using existing anti-money laundering laws to freeze the assets of persons suspected of human trafficking. Dark Bali contributes to this program by monitoring Indonesian media and reporting the names of suspected traffickers. This year, our efforts resulted in two new criminal profiles in the global database.

In 2018, the Dark Bali website generated:

12 general queries
12 volunteer queries
6 research requests
3 victim reports

At the request of the Women's Human Rights Institute of Korea, Dark Bali contributed a paper, Best Practices of Anti-Trafficking Organizations (Indonesia), which was published in November.

COMMUNITY RESOURCING

We are continually in awe of the resilience and reach of the Indonesian anti-trafficking movement. Our intention is to support local abolitionist leaders to fight against human trafficking in their own cities by listening and responding according to their goals and priorities.

Strengthening the reach and capacity of this community is at the core of Dark Bali's mission. We do this by providing needed training, translating quality resources into Indonesian, and facilitating access into global anti-trafficking networks.

We hosted attendees from 4 different islands representing 14 different organizations for our training on Best Practices in Trauma Sensitive Care, Leadership, and Empowerment led by Compass 31. Participants learned practical skills in art therapy, emotional intelligence, self-concept, self-defense, and meditation.

At this year's Asia Regional Anti-Trafficking Conference, the number of representatives from Indonesia was 5 times higher than at the previous year's conference. Dark Bali board member, Yohana Pandhi, enjoyed connecting with Dark Bali coalition members from around Indonesia and colleagues from around the world.

Dark Bali's 2018 Board of Directors

Ruth Hubbard, Board Chair

Ruth joined Wycliffe Bible Translators as a designer in 2002. In 2005, she became the Vice President for Communications, before spending 6 years as a Senior Vice President. Finally she became the Chief Culture Officer. In total, Ruth was with Wycliffe for 14 years. In 2016, Ruth became InterVarsity's first woman to serve as the Urbana Director. She currently serves on the board of directors for Marketplace & Development Enterprises. In roles Ruth has filled—from literature teacher to retreat speaker, from graphic designer to board member—Ruth loves to facilitate learning.

Dalaina May, Executive Director & Board Member

Dalaina moved to Bali, Indonesia in 2014 where she volunteered for a local non-profit which operates a shelter for female teen survivors of sex trafficking and sexual assault. Her role was to train and develop the staff in better standards of care. Eventually, she expanded this role to include members of multiple organizations, and Dark Bali was born. She holds a BA in Intercultural Studies from Biola University and a Master's Degree in Global Leadership with an emphasis in Children at Risk from Fuller Seminary.

Juliana Williams, Board Secretary

Juliana serves as the Executive Director of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Bend. Previously she led programs and operations for In Our Backyard (IOB), an anti-human trafficking nonprofit based in Central Oregon which focused on prevention, education and advocacy in the U.S. Earlier in her career, Williams developed the first-ever, comprehensive community relations program for global eyewear and sports leader, Oakley, Inc, and led a project team to launch the Infinite Hero Foundation. She lives with her husband and two growing boys in the outdoor paradise of Bend, OR.

Christian Nass, Board Member

Christian brings important expertise in business, in familiarity with Indonesian culture and language, as well as experience working with Indonesian government, businesses, and NGOs. Holding an MBA from Arizona State University with an emphasis in Supply Chain Management, Christian currently works as a Senior Procurement Agent at Roche Diagnostics Operations, Inc. He is also the owner and founder of ENM Pathfinder which is a sales outlet for global wholesalers and retailers. From January 2013 through December 2015, Christian lived in Riau Province, Indonesia where he worked as the procurement and logistics manager during the construction of Telunas Private Island and later as the Finance Manager for Bersama Solusindo.

Dennis Griggs, Board Member

Dennis spent his early career (1965-1989) in Germany where he founded and led Campus Crusade for Christ, Germany and later the Institute for Church Growth, Germany. When he returned to the United States, he worked as a pastor until retiring in 2017. Currently Dennis is the team leader for R.E.A.C.H (Richfield - Education, Action, and Compassion for (anti-) Human Trafficking), which is a church based anti-human trafficking volunteer ministry. He is also the Safe Families for Children Coordinator at Richfield Community Church, a team member for the Orange Country Human Trafficking Task Force, and a contributor to Orangewood Foundation's Community Trafficking Forum.

Matthew Maloney, Dark Bali Indonesia Board Chair

Matt moved to Bali in 2014 after teaching secondary level Science for 9 years in schools in both the US and Peru. After moving to Bali, Matt began to volunteer with several organizations, including Dark Bali, and currently serves as a cross-cultural liaison to a locally run non-profit.

Andy Prawira, Dark Bali Indonesia Vice Chair

Andy is the founder and director of Generasi Bisa, an Indonesian non-profit focused on addressing social issues impacting young Indonesians including drugs, HIV/AIDS, domestic violence, discrimination, prostitution, human trafficking, and poverty. In 2013, Andy was honored with an award from UNESCO for his work in peace-making and religious reconciliation among Indonesian youth.

Yohana Pandhi, Dark Bali Indonesia Board Trustee

Yohana brings years of experience working on behalf of Indonesian's women and children. After retiring from a long career as the head of the anti-trafficking unit of Bali's police force, Yohana took on the role of director of women and children's services for a local non-profit which includes the island's only safehouse for teenage girls. She also successfully finished law school and passed the bar exam in order to better support and advocate for those in her care.

Jessy Magdalena, Dark Bali Indonesia Treasurer

Jessy has been deeply involved in Bali's anti-trafficking movement for years. During her time leading World Relief Indonesia's Unit for Trafficking and Psychosocial support, she was instrumental in the birth and early development of Dark Bali. She currently works as the director for PT Uno Amico Indonesia.
