Dear Mike,

I wanted to briefly share with you some experiences we have been having with the OrthoGold100 Softwave therapy. As you know, we have been utilizing the Softwave therapy for a little over a year. While the system has been effective in diagnosing and treating acute injuries, it has been very beneficial in getting players "over-the-hump" in dealing with chronic inflammation and pain.

As you know, the OrthoGold system has the capability of effectively treating superficial and deep musculoskeletal conditions. We have performed treatments on various orthopedic conditions such as shoulder tendinitis, elbow sprain/strain, lumbar pars defect and hamstring strains. All of the aforementioned conditions have exhibited a decrease in pain and recovery within the first two treatments. Decreased recovery time means our professional athletes get back on the field quicker with minimal risk of re-injury. The Softwave therapy system has given us proven results at both the Major and Minor League levels.

We also appreciate the time and service you have given to our Organization to educate our staff on the benefits and clinical uses of this type of therapy.

Sincerely,
